STATE NEWS.

Cumberland.

Saturday afternoon, the foundation for the monument to the memory of George Cleeves, the founder of Portland, was laid. The monument, which is a piece of fine granite, will be ready for unveiling on the fourth of July. It will stand sixteen feet high above the base, and will be erected in the circle on the Eastern promenade, at the head of Congress street.

Patrick Quinnannon, of Portland, was going down a ladder into the hold of a coal vessel at the Grand Trunk wharf, Monday, when a round broke and he fell heavily. One ankle was badly fractured and the other severely sprained.

Three boys, aged fifteen years each, ran away from their homes in Boston, Friday night, and were arrested in Portland by the police. They were sent back home.

The Press says: It is currently reported that a scheme is on foot—resulting from the appointment of a committee by the First Parish society to confer with a committee from the Park street society—to erect a new church in the upper part of the city for the joint use of both parishes. It is reported that six gentlemen from the First Parish and six from the Park street have agreed to contribute $5000 apiece towards such a church under certain circumstances, and, it is also reported, that the First Parish society will donate the present edifice to the Portland Institute and Public Library, provided that it shall be used for that purpose and no other.

Kennebec.

The report that Hon. John May, of Winthrop, has fallen heir to a large fortune in Indiana, is incorrect, as far as Mr. May is concerned. The fortune comes from a brother of Mr. May's late wife, and will be divided among seven heirs, three of whom are the children of Mr. May.

The Journal says City Marshal True, of Hallowell, arrested one Fred Johnson, alias Jack Marshall, of Oakland, on suspicion of having stolen horse in his possession. The fellow confessed. The animal proved to be the property of Mr. Mathews, of Waterville, who had not missed the beast, as it was out to pasture. Johnson was bound over to the September term.

The Journal says: Mrs. Allen Lambard has very generously offered to erect a chapel at St. Catherine's Hall, Augusta, for the use of the school. The trustees of the institution have the matter under consideration and quite likely will accept.

Oxford.

The Democrat says a citizen of Buckfield, in order to keep his neighbor's sheep from his premises, placed a pan containing a villainous compound composed of Paris green, corn and cut potatoes, near the fence where the quadrupeds came through. He then notified the delinquent of what he had done. But three sheep and a turkey died with this stuff found in their stomachs. The grand Jury at its next session will consider this case from a legal aspect.

Quite a severe accident occurred at Brownfield a short time ago. Mrs. Ruth Cotton was thrown from her carriage, and so badly injured that she was carried to the nearest houses, a mile from home, and for ten days was too ill to be moved. It was feared she was injured internally, but later it is learned she is slowly improving.

The Argus says that Samuel Bidlon, an old gentleman 86 years of age, of South Hiram, fell down stairs last week, and fractured a bone in one of his legs. His wife, 84 years old, is also very sick. It is not probable that either of them can recover.

Sagadahoc.

The Times says Saturday afternoon, Miss Anna Cressey, of Bath, was quite badly scalded about the face. While engaged in filling an iron vessel with water, she accidentally dropped a portion of it on the stove, and a scalding steam and a scalded face was the result.

York.

The old store at Bonny Eagle, built by P. B. Abbott, nearly fifty years ago, and belonging to his heirs, was burned, with all its contents, Friday night. It was occupied by Winthrop Bradbury, whose loss is estimated at $3,000; probably the work of an incendiary.

CASTING THE FLY.

INTERNATIONAL ANGLERS' TOURNAMENT AT LONDON—AN AMERICAN WINS IN TWO MATCHES.

A London special to the Boston Herald says: The International Anglers' Tournament (in aid of the Anglers' Benevolent Society), took place at Welsh Harp, a few miles out from London, under the auspices of the London Fishing Gazette, June 11. Mr. Reuben Wood, of Syracuse, N. Y., the champion fly caster of America, and the most skilful anglers of Scotland and England in a friendly contest, which, no doubt, would have pleased old Isaac Walton to see, could he have lived. The morning was cold and drizzly, with a fresh northerly wind, which blew all day directly on the backs of the competing anglers, making it difficult to cast a fly so far or with so great accuracy and delicacy as might have been done under more favorable circumstances. Late in the afternoon, however, the sun shone and the weather improved so much that the photographer who was present had an opportunity to take a picture of a large number of anglers, the successful competitors forming the centre of the group.

Besides Mr. Wood, there were present of the American commission to the international fisheries exhibition, Prof. G. Brown Goode, Capt. J. W. Collins, Mr. A. Howard Clark and Mr. Max Hausmann. Baron Tcherkassoff, the Russian commissioner to the fishery exhibition, was also on the ground, but, so far as your correspondent could learn, there were no other representatives of foreign countries. The tournament was announced to begin at 11 o'clock P. M., and at that hour we stepped off the train at Welsh Harp and entered the grounds where were gathered the anglers. The great array of rods and other paraphernalia of an angler's outfit were evidence that there would be a goodly number of competitors. "Uncle Reuben" was not seen at first, and we began to fear that he might have missed a train and "got left." But a moment later he was espied as he threw the flies in the distance, standing on a platform which jutted out from the edge of the pond, and showed us the ever-present cigar, we knew that the champion from Syracuse was there and evidently ready for the fray.

[illegible] with of a big head, and a very [illegible] the best

Twelve competitions were announced on the programme. Of these Mr. Wood took part in only four, those being the first four on the list, and, as the others were in no sense international, I will go no further than to mention the matches in which the American champion participated. The first competition was for amateur fly casting with single-handed fly rod. For this there were three prizes. It may be said here that these prizes, as well as others offered for succeeding competitions, range in value from $21 to $2 50, and consisted chiefly of first-class rods of all kinds, reels, lines, etc. The second match was an amateur competition, with single-handed fly rod, in throwing fly with greatest accuracy and lightness under bushes. For this there were two prizes. The third contest was an amateur fly casting competition with double-handed trout fly rod, two prizes. The fourth and most interesting trial of skill was amateur fly casting with salmon rod. Two prizes were also offered for this.

The competitors drew lots to determine the order in which they should cast, and each, by the rules, was allowed five minutes for casting. The fly-casting contests took place on the water, the competitors standing on the little platform before alluded to. At 1:30 o'clock lots were drawn by the five anglers who took part in the first contest, these being Messrs. Baker, Reuben Wood, Murphy, Mallock, of Perth, and R. E. Marston. Wood got second place. The contest was a fine display of skill, and the honors were carried off by Mr. Wood, who made a splendid throw—considering the circumstances—of 274 yards, thus scoring a victory for the stars and stripes. Several of the English and Scotch anglers also showed great skill and proved themselves worthy antagonists for our champion. Mallock scored 27 yards and Baker 23 yards. Wood used a split bamboo, 11-ounce rod, 11½ feet long, while Mallock handled a hickory rod three inches longer. The second match was won by Mr. Mallock, Mr. Marston second, and Mr. Baker third. This gave our English cousins their revenge.

FOR THEIR FIRST DEFEAT,

and they were still further encouraged by beating Mr. Wood in the third match. This latter was with double-handed trout rod, something which "Uncle Reuben" had never handled before, and, it should be stated, he had not intended to participate in this particular match, but was induced to do so since no one else offered themselves at first as a competitor against Mr. Mallock, though, after the match began, Mr. Parker decided to try his hand at it. Mallock won, with Wood second and Parker third. The fourth match was between Wood and Mallock, and it was evident that our champion now meant business, for the graceful way in which he handled his salmon rod showed that he had not gained by accident the reputation which he enjoys as being the champion fly catcher of America. His skill elicited many complimentary remarks from English anglers, who were delighted to see such proficiency, even at the expense of national pride. But Mallock, as before, did some good casting, though now that Wood was on a trial in which he peculiarly excels, it was evident that the Scotchman must take second place.

The result of the match was that Wood cast 36 yards and Mallock got his fly out 35 yards. This was exceedingly good work, considering the direction of the wind, which, as an Englishman remarked, "makes a lump of difference." After this came various matches of bait throwing, a few of which we stopped to look at, but, having seen all that was of especial interest to us, we took a train at 5 o'clock P. M. and came back to London. Too success of Mr. Wood was not only pleasing to his American friends who witnessed the exhibition, but the repeated applause which followed his victories showed how much his performances were appreciated by the anglers here.

DANGER AHEAD.

WHAT HAS BEEN NOTICED OVER THE HUDSON RIVER TUNNEL—VIOLENT ERUPTIONS OF MUD AND WATER—FEARS THAT HEAVY VESSELS MAY BREAK THROUGH.

A New York despatch says: The employes on the steamers and pier of the French Steamship Company (La Compagne Generale Transatlantique,) at the foot of Morton street, North river, are in a state of considerable alarm over the dread of a sudden catastrophe. The works of the Hudson River Tunnel Company are located at the slip between Leroy and Morton streets, and the construction of the tunnel has advanced to such an extent that already it is nearly 75 feet outside the bulkhead wall. Here, on one side of the slip, lie the vessels of the French Steamship Company, while on the other side are those of the Inman line. Some few weeks ago, just as the submarine work had progressed to a point almost at the stern of one of the steamers of the French line, the water in the river was seen to suddenly rise, and an immense body of mud, stones and refuse was thrown into the air with a tremendous roar. People who were on the dock and near the spot at the moment were badly frightened. Mud and other material were scattered over the deck of the French steamer and upon the roof of the pier in large quantities. Every one who suspected the cause of the outburst hastened to the entrance of the tunnel works and inquired if any lives had been jeopardized. The occurrence was said to be due to a leak opening in the roof, but below had secured the air shaft and made their escape. Now another and more serious danger is threatening, and unless immediate precautions are taken the catastrophe expected may occur at any moment. It appears that since the work under the river has reached that part of the slip where the vessels of the French company lie, the officers and crews of the steamers can distinctly as if some powerful machinery were at work at the bottom of the river, endeavoring to shiver their vessel to atoms. When the last ship left its wharf, the Normandie, which arrived to take its place, could hardly enter the slip. Not only were the waters filled with strong whirling eddies, but the mud in the bed of the river was thrown up here and there in large quantities, to such an extent that it became impossible for the great vessel to force its way into more than about half of the slip. What is now dreaded is that at any moment on the sailing day of the French company's vessels, another outburst of the river's bed may follow. In such a case, all the people on deck will be covered and blinded by the downcoming tons of slimy mud and water, and, as the vessel will be heavily laden with freight, the weight of the steamer, it is feared, may prove too much for the comparatively weak roof of the tunnel below to withstand. The top of the structure would therefore quickly cave in, and the consequences that must follow may be imagined. A reporter recently paid a visit to the French Steamship Company's pier at the foot of Morton street. At the time the reporter arrived there the steamship Normandie was lying at her berth. The vessel was so far from the side of the dock that long elevated gangways and ladders had to be suspended from the lower decks to the stringpiece of the pier, so that she could be boarded and unloaded. Around the stern of the vessel, which was toward the shore, and in the slip, the water in the river appeared as if boiling for a distance of some feet, likely at any moment to burst forth in an eruption. One of the employes of the steamship company, who was busily watching the reporter's actions, said to him: "It's pretty healthy to stand around here when that boiling and rolling of the river is because any moment it's likely to go up, and then you would

FEEL A VIBRATION OF THEIR STEAMER

"Well, it's getting to look more like it every day. There has been a blowing up around here four times already, and, although I have not been caught in the shower, from what I have seen I can tell you it's to be steered clear of. You see how that white water boils there. Well, right under the Normandie it's going on, to such an extent that it's raised all the bed of the river up like hills, and the ship can't for a moment set right. When they had got as far as the new-made ground, inside of the bulkhead, with the tunnel, one night they had a big blow-up. I was not here that night, but the next morning I was shown where the hills of mud were chucked up. It satisfied me there was some big power that could do something when it got loose down there. About two weeks ago I saw a send-up right over on the other side of the ship, where the Inman dock is. Up went a dense black body as high as this dock roof, with a roar like an engine, and then spreading out, came down with great sprays of water, sending mud all around. The boys around here thought at first an earthquake had struck, but when they rushed to ascertain what was the matter, all they could notice was the water, that used to roll up and bubble over, had changed its motion and seemed to be running downward. It happened a leak in the tunnel had occurred, but, lucky enough, without any loss, except setting back operations about two weeks. For some time everything appears to be doing well, and they tell me they have advanced the tunnel in a few weeks more than they have for months at a time past. There are some 100 men down there now working in the compressed air, and I understand everything is going nicely. About 600 more men will be sent down soon. But up here we are expecting a fearful burst some day."

ENGINEER FINCH

was asked by the reporter when he started on the south tunnel from the New York side.

"We began this morning. The north tunnel, right along the side of it, is projected out from the New York shore 170 feet, from the Jersey side the north tunnel is projected out this way 1,600 feet under the river, making a total of 1,770 feet. The total distance between the sunken shafts on the New York and Jersey City ends is a little more than a mile, or 5,500 feet. From the Jersey shore the south tunnel is projected out this way 600 feet. The two tunnels are side by side, and communicate by open passages at regular distances of 250 feet. As we get farther out under the river, we make more rapid progress, as the excavating becomes easier. On this side we are now going through salt and silt, which is a kind of hardened clay. We have not yet come upon any solid rock, although we have taken out a good many boulders."

"When is the celebration of the opening of this tunnel likely to take place?"

"Well," said Engineer Finch, buttoning on his collar, "if the money is forthcoming, we can complete it in eighteen months or two years. Beside the tunnel proper, there will be the approaches to cut through, and I suppose it will be three or four years before we shall see trains of cars running under the river."

"Will the tunnel or tunnels be exclusively for railroad cars?"

"Yes. They are built oval shaped, just large enough for the very largest drawing room coach to pass through. But this tunnel will not be able to accommodate all the traffic, and another one will probably be projected before long, farther down town."

"Where will be the entrance to this tunnel on the New York side?"

"It will have to be pretty well up toward Broadway, but the exact point has not yet been decided upon. It may be that, in three years from now, New York passengers for Philadelphia, Washington and all other points south and southwest can step into their drawing room coaches at Washington square."

THURSDAY, JUNE 26, 1883.

The Russian gold mines last year produced $6,500,000 worth of the precious ore.

The Secretary of War has ordered General Crook to Washington to consult upon the final disposition of the captured Apaches.

The new law of "compulsory education" in Illinois will excite the ire of Democracy. It's no free country when men cannot do as they please. In the estimation of such patriots free whiskey is far ahead of free schools.

If there are the usual number of deaths from lockjaw after the Fourth as the result of injuries inflicted by that diabolical instrument, the "toy" pistol, it won't be because the press has failed to warn the authorities, shopkeepers, parents and boys against the death dealer.

Army officers have at last received a wholesome lesson against the violation of the regulations as to gambling. The President has approved the finding of the court martial that Wasson be dismissed the army, be imprisoned eighteen months at hard labor, and that the causes of his punishment be published in Iowa, the State from which he was appointed.

A Democratic exchange says "Hoadley will sweep the State like a Kansas blizzard." That is very likely. If the people of Ohio want a political cyclone they can have it by placing the Democracy in power. Everything good and prosperous in all the land has resulted from going directly in the face of Democratic demands for the past twenty-five years.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Ex-Senator Oglesby's friends have formally placed him in the field for next Republican nomination for Governor of Illinois. He consents to be considered a candidate on condition that he is asked to make no struggle for the honor and that it come to him with the cordial consent of the party. He wisely refuses also to identify himself with any faction and says that he will sooner forego the honor than cause a division in the party's ranks.

The estimate of the acreage of wheat in Dakota Territory, made by the Agricultural Department for 1882, was 720,000 acres; this year, according to personal observation in each county, it is 1,074,000 acres, or an increase of 49.25 per cent., and the crop is in good condition. For several weeks now the reports of the condition of wheat in the West and Northwest have been improving, while there is a decidedly better feeling in regard to corn. It is to be remembered that the harvest has begun in the Southwest, in Kansas, and in some parts north of it. Save as affected by local floods or possible cyclones, it is now possible to judge pretty accurately as to the wheat crop, which will be short of that of 1882, but of a better quality, and will be supplemented by exuberant crops of grass and oats. With the prospect of a seven million bale cotton crop, there is every reason rather for anxiety as to the disposal of surplus products than in regard to the precise amount of such surplus.

A Young Men's Christian Association of England has sent an accredited agent to this country on a novel mission. His object is to arrange with reputable farmers in the United States, especially in the West for the placing with them of youths from sixteen to eighteen years of age, to be thoroughly instructed in practical farming. The young men are to be selected by the Association from among those who are not fitted for business or have no chance to enter business and who have no other opening in life. There are in fact large numbers of youth in England who, after after serving an apprenticeship to a merchant, find that there is no work for them to do. The Association intends to send as many such young men as possible to this country, where their opportunities will be so much larger than at home. They will only be sent to farmers who are well established and who will be in a measure responsible for those entrusted to their care. It is believed that there are many such farmers who would be glad to have the service of respectable lads at a nominal figure. It is also proposed to provide homes in this country for girls as domestics, who are unwilling to take such positions in their own country.

THE HAND OF THE "OLD MAN."

[N. Y. Tribune.]

We have it upon such Democratic authority as the World newspaper that the Ohio Democratic State Convention "was the most boisterous, bibulous and disreputable convention ever held in the great State." But we are likewise informed by the same journal that "the Ohio Democrats are always demonstrative in convention," that "they will run to faction and quarrel over candidates, but they always manage to reconcile their differences before the day of balloting." The frank admission concerning the character of the convention is followed by the confident prediction that before the day of voting the differences will be healed and a harmonious and united Democracy will elect Judge Hoadly Governor. Meantime certain other Democratic journals are turning over the results of this "boisterous, bibulous and disreputable" convention, and wondering what effect, if any, they will have on the National Convention next year, and the Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

There seems to be a lurking suspicion in the minds of many Democrats that the nomination of Judge Hoadly to be Governor of Ohio means a deal more than appears on the surface; that he means a good deal more in accepting the nomination, and that the men who have been pushing him mean a good deal more than the Governorship of Ohio. The Atlanta Constitution expresses an opinion by no means uncommon when it says: "It means that either "Hoadly will be in training for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency or "that he will support Pendleton, who is "his political prophet. From this day "forth the Presidential campaign may be "said to be in progress."

So much of this as relates to Pendleton may be dismissed. That gentlemen can hardly be called a candidate. He had his nomination for Vice-President in 1864, and his boom for the first place in 1868, and so far as those places are concerned may be considered shelved. There are plenty of reasons for setting this down as a fixed fact, but one will suffice. Mr. Pendleton is so far committed to Civil Service Reform as to make it doubtful in the minds of many Democrats whether he would make a clean sweep of the Republicans in office and put Democrats in their places in case of his election. The present Democratic party, whatever else it may do, will run no risks and take no chances in a matter of such vital importance.

The Atlanta editor may be assured, moreover, that should Judge Hoadly be elected Governor of Ohio—which we take leave to say is extremely improbable—he is not the man to turn over to another the advantages thereof, or to lend Mr. Pendleton or anybody else the prestige of his own success. Judge Hoadly purchased this nomination—as some Democrats charge—and if he should succeed in purchasing an election in October it is an investment of his own funds for his own profit. He is not engaged just now in philanthropic enterprises but in practical politics. It is a political venture for the benefit of Judge Hoadly himself. If the Ohio election is understood to lap over on the National Convention he will insist that "the tail goes with the hide." He is not buying the privilege of acting as ladder or stepping stone o some one else.

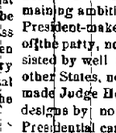

Moreover, there are uncommonly good reasons for the belief that an eminent Democrat of this city—whose robust vitality and radiant youthfulness were recently described so poetically by Mr. Henry Watterson—had something to do with putting forward Judge Hoadly as candidate for Governor; and he is not a man whose ambition stops with the making of mere Governors. The Atlanta newspaper truly says: "From this day forth the Presidential campaign may be said to be in progress." It might have said further that so far as the Democratic canvass in Ohio is concerned Mr. Samuel J. Tilden's great effort to pay off an old debt and make his own main President has fairly begun. Mr. Tilden owes Judge Hoadly a considerable debt of gratitude. It is well known to persons familiar with the political history of the past eight years that Judge Hoadly wrote and published during the pendency of Mr. Tilden's claim to the Presidency in 1876-7 a most elaborate and formidable opinion sustaining the bogus Cronin electoral college in Oregon.

It is not so well known that at the time of this publication certain emissaries of Mr. Tilden were on their way with large sums of money to the disputed States—South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana—and that upon the strength of the Hoadly opinion their instructions were countermanded; Mr. Tilden having become convinced that the Hoadly argument in the Oregon case was sound, and that the one vote he needed being assured there was no need of spending more money on the other disputed States. Mr. Tilden is probably the only man besides its author who ever read Judge Hoadly's argument in that case. But it was so subtle and technical, so full of pettifogging points and withal so interminably tedious, that it commended itself to him at once.

From that time Mr. Tilden has been an ardent admirer of Hoadly. The two men are not unlike in disposition, temperament and mental qualities; they believe in a general way in the same political theories, and it may be fairly inferred from the stories current concerning the Ohio nomination that their methods in politics do not differ. Mr. Tilden is probably out of the question as a candidate and knows it. But he is not out of active politics, and will not be till he dies. It is his highest remaining ambition to be, not President, but President-maker. It was the Tilden wing of the party, not simply in Ohio, but assisted by well known Tilden leaders in other States, notably from Kentucky, that made Judge Hoadly the candidate. Their designs by no means stop there. The Presidential campaign is in progress. A desperate effort will be made to carry Ohio, then to control the National Convention, and finally to carry the country. This is the meaning of the Ohio business, and this is the far-reaching purpose of Mr. Tilden. We are confident that it will miscarry at the next step in October.

An important decision, affecting very materially the manufactures and the many thousands of users of barbed wire fencing, has just been given by the United States Court at St. Louis. The Washburn & Moen Company of Massachusetts is the holder of a re-issued patent for barbed wire fencing, and though there are other makes of this article from all of them the Massachusetts company has demanded and till lately received a royalty on the fencing. A firm in St. Louis and another in Iowa, enlightened by the nature of the grounds upon which the driven well patent monopoly was upset, declined to pay anything for the right of manufacture of barbed wire. The holders of the patent asked the St. Louis Court to grant injunctions restraining them from manufacturing the fencing. The motions were heard before three Judges and were overruled. The ground for this decision is said to be that the re-issue of the patent upon which the central company claimed a monopoly is void. The driven well patent was quashed on similar ground, the Court taking the position that if the re-issue covered improvements not specified in the original patent, the re-issue was not valid. Time was given in the wire fencing case for either party to produce further proof, but the collapse of the barbed wire fence monopoly may now be looked upon as assured. The importance of the interest concerned may be estimated from the facts that last year 500,000 miles of this fencing was put up, and the profits to the manufacturers amounted to between four and five million dollars.

At Harvard.

BOSTON, June 27. Governor Butler and Lieutenant Governor Ames left for Harvard College this morning, with members of the Governor's staff, and with the National Lancers for escort. The Governor was driven in an elegant barouche, drawn by six horses. He was dressed in citizen's clothes.

The procession formed as follows: Band, graduating class headed by orators of the day, President Eliot and Gov. Butler, members of the board of overseers and corporation, Lt. Gov. Ames and staff, city officials and sheriffs of Middlesex and Suffolk, faculty of the university, alumni by classes. The procession having filed into the Sanders theatre the front doors were at last thrown open and the theatre filled. After the usual introductory exercises the class orations were begun in the following order: Latin oration—Greeting to the alumni and benefactors of the University by Achibald Livingstone Hodges. Disquisitions—"The Melancholy of Heinrich Heine," by Augustus Mendon Lord; "Schopenhauer's Æsthetics," by Charles Ranlet. Dissertations—"Science and Sentiment in Charity," by George Ross Hewitt; "Chemistry Before the Nineteenth Century," by Morris Lord; "Richelieu as a Statesman," by Edward Cummings; "Codification of the Common Law," by William Schofield; "The Analogy between Civil and Religious Progress," by Charles Sumner Markland.

The Annual Business Meeting of the alumni association was held in Harvard Hall at 1 P. M., Hon. Joseph H. Choate, third vice president in the chair. The following list of officers was ratified:

President, Wm. G. Russell, of Boston.

Vice President, Phillip Brooks, Boston; Jos. H. Choate, New York; Francis J. Child, Cambridge; Manning F. Force, Cincinnati; Henry J. Bigelow, Boston; Wm. C. Endicott, Salem; Nath'l H. Morrison, Baltimore; Horace H. Furness, Philadelphia; Horace Davis, San Francisco; John Quincy Adams, Quincy.

Directors, Samuel A. Green, Boston; Theodore Lyman, Brookline; Henry S. Russell, Boston; Chas. Eliot Norton, Cambridge; Wm. Bradt Storer, Cambridge; Oliver W. Holmer, Jr., Boston; Francis M. Weld, New York.

Treasurer, S. L. Thorndike, Cambridge.

Secretary, Arthur Lincoln, Hingham.

Hon. Amos Lawrence, for trustees of class subscriptions, reported the total thus far subscribed by the Alumni of the College was about $120,000, but during the last year the receipts were but $230. He urged that means be taken to revive interest in these subscriptions.

Col. Henry Lee, for the Executive Committee, charged with placing in Memorial Hall the likeness in stone of Major General Wm. Francis Bartlett, class '62, with a tablet commemorative of his services, reported that it had been accomplished. Adjourned.

The polls were open in Massachusetts Hall from 10 to 4 o'clock for the election of five Overseers of the College for a term of six years. Eight different tickets were in the field. The candidates were announced this evening as follows: Francis M. Weld, class '60; Solomon Lincoln, '57; Andrew P. Peabody, '26; Wm. C. Endicott, '47 and Philip Brooks. Brooks' name was not on the regular list of candidates, but he was elected by 319 votes. Weld was on all the tickets and received 541. After exercises at the theatre Gov. Butler and staff were entertained at the house of President Eliot until 2:15 P. M. the procession of the alumni marched to Memorial Hall where was served. Hon. J. H. Choate, of New York, presided and made the opening remarks. President Eliot was the next speaker in response to the sentiment "Our Beloved Alma Mater." During the year a gift from Geo. B. Dorr, has been received, which has netted $110,000 income, to be used at the discretion of the corporation. A fund of $60,000 has been raised by subscription, the income of which is to go from year to year to increase the salary of the President of Harvard. This, he thought, should stimulate the alumni to take action looking to the increase of the salaries of teachers of the University.

Gov. Butler responded to the sentiment "The Common Wealth of Massachusetts." After dwelling on the benefit the State receives from the University, he made the only reference of the day to the refusal of the overseers to confer the honorary LL D. on him. He said: "Allusion has been made to the fact that the men of Harvard were among the first that went to the war of the rebellion. Yes I knew that; nobody knows that better than I do, and Harvard has done one thing to-day, which, if I felt after the kind reception you have given me, a thought of unkindness toward her, would wipe it all away. Forty years ago I entered the military service of Massachusetts. Soon after I became an officer of a regiment of the Massachusetts militia. The officers of that regiment thought one of the best officers possible in the regiment was the pious, kindhearted, energetic, brave man for chaplain. Such a chaplain was found in the sixth regiment of Massachusetts militia. That regiment was one of the first to march because it was first ready and then it met a baptism of fire and blood at Baltimore. In that regiment was Rev. Mr. Babbidge; its chaplain, on whom your college has this day conferred the well known and deserved degree of Doctor of Divinity."

Rev. Geo. E. Ellis, D. D. LL. D., followed, speaking for the class of '33. Col. Henry Lee was the next speaker and the exercises closed with an address by ex-Lieut. Gov. Dorchermer, of New York.

At Dartmouth.

HANOVER, N. H., June 27. The annual meeting of the Dartmouth Alumni Association was called to order at 8:30 A. M., Hon. John Wentworth, Chicago, as President. Mr. Wentworth said 53 classes were personally represented, 19 States and Territories and the Province of New Brunswick, having contributed to that number. The classes were then called in order, beginning with 1809, the oldest class having a living representative, and nearly every class reported.

The Jesup botany prizes, offered to students of Chandler scientific department, were awarded as follows: For best herbarium, first prize, Edward C. Wardwell, of Winchester, N. H.; second prize, Fred. A. Metcalf, of Lowell, Mass.; best examination paper, Fred. P. Weeks, of Plymouth, Mass.

In the Agricultural College, first prize, A. W. Brill, of Riverhead, N. J.; second prize, Walter S. Angeer, of Swanzey, N. H.

The American Band, of Providence, Henrietta Beebe, New York, and the Temple Quartette, Boston, gave a concert in the College chapel this evening.

MASSACHUSETTS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

WASHINGTON, June 27. A comparative statement of the collections of internal revenue during the first eleven months of the fiscal years ending June 30, 1882 and 1883, show the total receipts of 1882, $133,608,009; 1883, $134,664,753—an increase of $1,056,749.

The Hill Investigation.

In the Hill investigation to-day J. W. Wilbur, of New York, testified that he had an account against the United States for putting illuminated tiling in the New York post office. When he presented the account to Hill the latter said he ought to have 10 per cent. for settling the claim. Mr. Gannon, an employe of the office, also took him aside and told him they ought to have 10 per cent. Witness said nothing and soon after was informed that his claim had not been allowed and believed Hill and Gannon made adverse reports.

L. E. Gannon then took the stand for the defence. Witness was an employe of the architect's office from 1869 to 1877, part of the time principal clerk. Witness denied that any such conversation ever occurred as has been detailed by Wilbur or that any proposition had been made by him (witness) to Wilbur for 10 per cent. of his claim for passing it. Hill referred Wilbur to him (Gannon) because it was customary in the office to refer a claimant to the clerk having the matter in charge.

Hill then took the stand and said a portion of the testimony of Wilbur is true and part false. I never held any conversation with Wilbur in which it was either said or intimated I would receive or permit any compensation to be paid for the settlement of his claim. The charge of Wilbur is absolutely false. Witness never appeared before the Congressional Committee in connection with this claim except in answer to a summons. Adjourned till to-morrow.

Irish Pauper Immigrants.

Secretary Folger has instructed Collector Robertson, of New York, to refer the matter of Irish pauper immigrants back to the Emigration Commissioners of that city as to whether they are unable to care for themselves without becoming a public charge.

Permitted to Resign.

Secretary Chandler has decided to permit Commander Frederick Smith, court martialed for duplicating his pay accounts, to resign from the service. The Secretary said to-day that although Commander Smith had been found guilty of duplicating his accounts in more than one instance he thought his actions were not such as should prevent his being allowed to resign.

Alabama Claims.

In the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims to-day judgments were announced as follows with interest from the date mentioned: Charles C. Champlin, $1,676; James Griswold, trustee of the estate of Geo. Moore, $6,719, Aug. 13, 1864; Paul Sears, $8,409; Reuben W. Hopkins, executor of Reuben Hopkins, 8,409; Warren S. Frost, administrator of estate of R. H. Crosby, $5,506; Rebecca Smith, administratrix of estate of Joseph Smith, $4,284; Nathaniel Matthews, executor of estate of Solomon Taylor, $2,102 and Lucy C. Childs, executrix estate of A. C. Childs, deceased, $1,926, Oct. 9, 1863; Israel Pearson, $438, Oct. 23, 1862.

Advices From South America.

LIMA, June 27. A newspaper published here yesterday prints a letter from Gen. Calderon to Gen. Iglesais, dated Valparaiso, Feb. 8th, in which he says all attempts to make peace has been frustrated by Gen. Iglesais or Gen. Pierrola, who have been treating with Chili at the same time and offering better terms. Gen. Calderon says he had hoped to conclude peace without the cession of territory, but that that now seems impossible. He, however, hopes Gen. MAINE STATE COLLEGE.

Commencement Day at Orono—Exercises of the Graduating Class—Conferring Degrees and Awarding Prizes—The Commencement Dinner—Alumni Meeting—President's Reception.

Yesterday was Commencement Day at Orono and the weather was all that could be desired for this interesting occasion. The forenoon was occupied with the anniversary exercises.

The hall was filled at an early hour with friends of the graduating class. Its fine decorations had been preserved with several additions, the air was fragrant with flowers, and the entire scene was one that recalled similar events in the history of the College. Music was rendered by Andrews' incomparable orchestra. On the platform were the Faculty of the College, the Secretary of State, several members of the Executive Council, and other distinguished gentlemen. Gov. Robie was detained at home by the graduating exercises at the Normal School. The exercises proceeded according to the following

Cain found the evidences of the existence and power of the Almighty in the various works of his hands. Even in the achievements of the finite, there we find the impress of the infinite.

Emery defined success as achievement in goodness and virtue, and the dissipation of the idea that man can get something out of nothing.

Patten argued for State ownership in the great lines of transportation, so that the rates of tariff may be regulated, and as a remedy against the encroachments of the money power.

Mullen also dealt with the railroad question, and struggled with the problem of taxation without being able to solve it.

Fernald showed with great clearness what an unstable and fickle thing public opinion is. The province of the educated man is to give shape and tone to the mighty power.

Miss Michaels, the only lady of the class, found among the ruins of all ages, profound lessons for those in the living present.

The Monroe Doctrine was forcibly advocated by Merrill, who took the Blaine side of the controversy on the Isthmus question.

Sutton found the remedy for the abuse of the ballot in raising the standard of political honesty. He referred to the State count-out as a specimen of political trickery.

Putnam made some useful suggestions concerning sanitary engineering, and the parts closed with an excellent essay by Taylor on Progress.

It will be seen that most of the themes chosen were on practical subjects, and a good breadth of thought was displayed in their treatment.

Owing to the absence of Governor Robie the degrees were conferred by Hon. S. C. Hatch, Chairman of the Executive Council, as follows:

DEGREES IN COURSE.

Bachelor of Science—Frank Edwin Emery, of the Course of Agriculture; James Henry Cain, Batholomew Patrick Kelleher, Lucius Herbert Merrill, Harry Wilson Powers, of the Course of Chemistry; Arthur Liddell Fernald, Jennie Chase Michaels, Levi William Taylor, of the Course of Science and Literature; Jonathan Vernet Gilley, Charles Ward Mullen, Truman Millett Patten, Charles Edgar Putnam, George Arthur Sutton, of the Course of Civil Engineering.

Master of Science—James Monroe Bartlett, Frank Albert Mansfield.

DEGREES OUT OF COURSE.

Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering—John William Meserve, Cambridgeport, Mass., class of '79.

Master of Civil Engineering—Alvah De Orville Blackington, Rockland, class of '77; Harry Percy Bean, Wisconsin Central R. R., class of '79.

President Fernald then announced that he had received the awards of prizes at the Sophomore and Junior exhibitions, and announced them as follows: Sophomore exhibition—First prize to Fremont Lincoln Russell, of North Fayette and honorable mention to George Watt Chamberlain, of West Lebanon. Junior exhibition—First prize, W. H. Burleigh, of Vassalboro; second prize, William Webber, of Guilford; third prize, Edwin Fremont Ladd, of Starks.

COMMENCEMENT DINNER.

At the close of these exercises the usual procession was formed and proceeded to the dining hall, where a bountiful spread awaited them. For about two hours the feast of reason and the flow of soul continued to the enjoyment of all present. The after-dinner speeches were introduced by President Fernald, reviewing the changes that have occurred at the institution during the past year. A military officer has been secured, he said, to give regular military instruction to the students: an appropriation of $18,000 has been granted by the legislature for the ensuing two years; a special legislative committee has been secured for the college; a branch of the Young Men's Christian Association has been organized and general advancement has been made in religious and intellectual culture; ex-Governor Coburn has twice remembered the college library by sending checks for $100 for the purchase of books, and also furnished the prizes bestowed at the present commencement. There is still need of $100,000 being added to the endowment of the college to afford a safe basis for good work. In closing the President called upon Hon. S. C. Hatch, as Chairman of the Executive Council, to speak for the State.

Mr. Hatch expressed regret at the Governor's inability to be present, but said he need not assure them of the Governor's earnest friendship for the College. He stated briefly that the old prejudices against the college were dying out, and a friendly spirit was growing among the people of the State. In closing he advised the college to come up boldly and ask the Legislature for what it may actually need hereafter, and they would undoubtedly obtain it without trouble. His remarks were heartily received.

Hon. J. A. Locke, of the Council, spoke in general terms regarding the importance of the educational interests to the State, and stated that they were its bulwarks and fortifications against enemies at home and abroad. Education, he said, teaches men to think and act for themselves.

Hon. W. W. Bolster, next offered brief remarks friendly to the institution, after which Hon. C. A. Boutelle was called upon, and congratulated the college and the people of Orono on the friendly spirit that has always existed between the two, and pledged his aid to further the interests of the institution at all times to the extent of his ability.

Hon. D. H. Thing, of Mt. Vernon, of the Board of Trustees, spoke in regard to the feeling held by the agricultural people of the State towards the college, and Capt. Keyes, also of the Board, testified to the decrease of the feeling of prejudice towards the college, and pledged his most earnest aid to further its interests whenever the occasion presents itself.

Dr. Mayo, of Orono, spoke earnestly in favor of the college and of the good will of the people toward it. Mr. S. L. Boardman, editor of the Home Farm and Messrs. Pierce, of Frankfort, and Spofford, of Bucksport, also made brief remarks, after which Hon. S. H. Blake, of Bangor, was called upon. In response he commended the college as an important factor in the economies and industries of the State and hence all are interested that its management shall be wise in its policy and in the course of studies adopted, that the usefulness of the institution should be made efficient and its influence for good be advanced. In closing he urged the encouragement of the men laboring in the industrial pursuits that they may be inspired to renewed efforts.

Eloquent remarks were made by Wm. T. Haines, Esq., of Waterville, and G. D. Parks, Esq, of Brunswick, on behalf of the Alumni, Dr. Seavey, of Bangor, Howard Owen, of the Maine Farmer, and H. M. Estabrook, of Pembroke. Being called upon by the President to speak for the ladies of the Alumni, Miss Percia A. Vinal, of Orono, responded very appropriately and pleasantly and was warmly applauded. The speaking exercises then closed.

ALUMNI MEETING.

At a meeting of the Alumni of the College, held at 3:30 P. M., Wm. T. Haines, Esq, of Waterville, was elected a member of the Board of Trustees of the College in accordance with the legislative act of last winter. The officers chosen were Geo. H. Hamlin, President; Walter Balentine, Secretary; and Prof. Benjamin, Treasurer.

THE RECEPTION.

The usual reception to the graduating class was given by the President last evening and a pleasant time enjoyed by all. Among the guests were the Secretary of State, the members of the Executive Council and the Board of Trustees.

Q. T. V. REUNION.

Putnam, W. G. M.; installation of officers; Welcome address, by C. N. Mullen; banquet with T. M. Patten as Toastmaster; Our Chapter was responded to by Prof. Balentine, Class of '83 by G. A. MOOSEHEAD LAKE NOTES.

FLY-FISHING VS. FLIES—A PLEASANT PARTY—BANGOREANS ABROAD—NEW YORK SPORTSMEN AT THE LAKE—MORE BEARS—THE ANNEX—READY JULY 12—A NEW COTTAGE—A FINE GARDEN, ETC., ETC.

GREENVILLE, June 26, 83'

Fly fishing has been pretty successful the week past, but has not reached its best. This being the time when one has to watch the flies at both ends of the rod, there are not so many now at the lake as there would be were it not for the little pests. But the black fly season has reached its height, and they will now be less plentiful till they entirely disappear. But you will not find a single one of those who have been "casting the fly" who would be deprived of the delights therefrom, or the recollection of the pleasure thereby obtained, for a far greater penalty than that of suffering from the bites of a few black flies and mosquitoes.

There has been a very pleasant party of gentleman at Kineo the past week, and as the inimitable Bangorean turns up in nearly every State or city in the Union, so when the citizens of other States come here, we find among them many of our old-time Bangor boys. Among those here last week, was Mr. Woodbury, a wealthy gentleman of Lynn, Mass., who thirty-five years ago was with the well known firm of A. & E. Dole & Co., the well known furniture dealers of Bangor. Another Bangor boy, and graduate of the Bangor High School, was Mr. Wm. S. Hills, the well known flour dealer, of Boston. Beside these, Mr. Lauriat, of the well known book firm of Estes & Lauriat, of Boston, Mr. Butler, of Baltimore an old habitue of Kineo, Dr. Gale, Messrs. Fred, Walter and Charles Childs, of Brattleboro, Vermont, and Mr. Brooks, of Salem, and others made up a very pleasant party. All the above named, except Dr. Gale and Mr. Butler, returned to their homes, Monday morning, greatly delighted, as usual—all except Mr. Lauriat being old-comers—with their visit to the lake—or The Lake, as it should more properly be written. A party of nine gentlemen from Rochester, N. Y., came up on Saturday, and have chartered the steamer Twilight till the tenth of July, and with their canoes and guides have gone to the lake for a fortnight of rare sport.

More bears continue to be reported. Mr. John Quilty, an old hunter, well known in Bangor, came down from the Cocmagomook lake last Saturday, with seven nice bear-skins, and about one hundred dollars worth of skins of smaller game.

A good bear skin, after it has been denuded of its nose and ears, in order to collect the State bounty, sells here for fifteen dollars, but to obtain the skin intact buyers are obliged to pay the extra five dollars, and two of Mr. Quilty's skins were sold at that rate to members of the above party, who bear them to their homes in triumph. It is to be hoped, for the cause of truth, that they won't impose too wonderful stories of their exploits in obtaining the skins to their too confiding friends at home.

Apropos of this it is whispered that one of the above named gentlemen took Mr. Quilty aside, on the boat from Kineo, and asked him to tell him a good bear story, as to how the animal was captured, to take home with the skin. John said that was not in the bargain. If he told a good story he must have more pay. He was told that money was no object but the story he must have. We would like to sit round somewhere unseen and listen when Mr. —— tells the story to his friends at home. But it is not my purpose to "give him away," and so I give no names.

The work on the Annex is being rapidly pushed forward and Major Davis promises that it shall be ready the 12th of July. Maj. Davis is building a pretty cottage back of the garden, for his own use. The boarding house is being run in fine shape by Messrs. Orlando Barrows and Ed. Drake. Over sixty persons are well cared for there. The kitchen garden, under charge of the veteran gardener, Mr. Drake, is looking finely, and has already begun to furnish luxuries for the table. Mr. Whipple, head man of the Moose River drive, lost a package of money amounting to $1,040, last week. He had got the money wet and gave it to the cook to dry, and some one who had knowledge of the fact stole it from the cook room. No clue to the thief or thieves as yet. The weather is perfectly charming.

NAUGHTY BOYS.

Forepaugh's circus was recently announced to open in Pittsburg, Pa., for Monday. On Sunday the Sunday-school Superintendent gave his school an exhortation about it, and warned the children of the wickedness of going to such a depraved show. Then he told them that if there were any children present so lost to all sense of what was best for them as to go to this soul-destroying exhibition, he would thank them to rise, so that the rest of the school might see what they looked like. Instantly all arose, except one lame girl. It was agreed that the circus was well advertised.

IRRITATION OF THE SCALP.

AN AUTHENTIC TESTIMONY.

Gentlemen:—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing BURNETT'S COCOAINE and BURNETT'S KALLISTON advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

Policeman Ed. K. Heath, 29 North street, Portland, Me., May 11, 1883, writes:

"I have been troubled for a good many years with inflammation of the bladder, dating as far back as during the time I was in the army. I suffered with dull, heavy pains in the back and kidneys too intense for me to describe, and tried several remedies that were recommended; and was examined by one of our best physicians, who pronounced it inflammation of the bladder; and I went to the hospital for treatment, but all medicine and treatment had seemed to fail. I was recommended to try Hunt's Remedy, as it had been used in several such cases here in Portland and vicinity. I purchased a bottle at Smith's drug store here, and found after using the first bottle that it relieved me greatly, and after using several bottles found that it did me more good than all other medicines and treatment I have received combined. And to add to my good opinion of Hunt's Remedy, I beg to state in closing that my wife has been for a long time troubled with a weakness and inflammation of the bladder, with a complication of other diseases peculiar to women. After using only two bottles she has been completely cured; and I can say that my wife is loud in praise of this wonderful medicine, and I would highly recommend it to all who are suffering from kidney diseases or diseases of the bladder."

PORTLAND, Me., May 11, 1883.

I hereby certify that I know the facts of the sickness of Mrs. E. K. Heath, and they are correctly stated in the foregoing certificate, and her cure was accomplished by the use of Hunt's Remedy.

A. W. SMITH, Druggist,
Cor. Portland and Green Streets.

NO MATERIAL CHANGE.

This is to certify that I have used Hunt's Remedy for the kidney complaint, and derived much benefit from its use.

I have been afflicted about one year, and received treatment from the local physicians, and used a number of so-called specifics without any material help. I am happy to say, after using three bottles of Hunt's Remedy, I was completely cured.

I never fail to recommend it, and you are at liberty to use my name in any manner you may desire.

Avoid by all means the use of calomel for bilious complaints. BOATS, BICYCLES AND HAY FEVER.

Nature has resolved that all the people shall not enjoy themselves at once. With the opening of the season of outdoor sports comes the time of trouble for the poor victims of Hay Fever. For them flowers have no odor, and the summer little or no beauty. To snuff, sneeze and wipe their weeping eyes for three or four successive months:—this is their pitiable portion. Whether this form of catarrh is called hay-fever, hay-cold, rose-cold or rose-fever, makes no difference; they suffer just the same. There is no help in sea-voyages, there is no help in high mountain air. These only lighten the pocket and leave the disease unabated. But there is a positive cure in Ely's Cream Balm. We could cram these columns with grateful letters of the rescued. Try it and join them. If you continue to suffer it is because you neglect a remedy as sure as it is cheap and pleasant. eod&w2w jan21

RURAL SCENES, OCCUPATIONS AND PLEASURES.

I am well aware, that I cannot do justice to this interesting subject, yet without taking up too much space in your valuable paper, I would like to offer a few remarks upon this subject for the consideration of those who are anxious to leave their parental homes in the country, for a residence in the cities. We are ready to admit that city life has some advantages which country has not.

These need not be particularly pointed out, as they will readily occur to every one. Yet, after all, city life runs quick, is giddy, high-minded, and under continual excitement. Much is condensed into little time and space. Men live under a high-pressure system. The candle of life is kept in a continual blaze, and it frequently goes out at a very early period in life.

But country life, on the other hand, has many advantages; its scenes, occupations and pleasures are favorable to health and reflection, a long life and true enjoyment.

We do not intend to set up city and country life as rivals, for that they are both necessary to human existence in the various branches of mercantile and mechanical business of the country, is self evident, and thus comes the motive to change from city to country, and from country to city among those whose circumstances or occupations do not bind them to one locality. Yet we would ask all that are so anxious to leave the paternal roof in the country or some stifled tenement in the city, to tell me how they account for that rush of cooped up men and women that are to found in the cities that flee to the green fields of the country, to the mountains, hills and valleys and wild woodland scenes, which invariably occurs on every holiday? It is instinct fleeing, to the balmy breath and soothing influence of country scenes, to revive the powers that have been impaired, and heal the bruises that have been inflicted by the artificial mode of city life.

The scenes, occupations and pleasures of rural life are too well known to need particular description. It is sufficient to say they are the scenes of every day life, and of every day pleasures, such as fill the mind with joy and gladness, and lift the soul to God. They are the scenes which all parts of the country present, and the fountain from which thousands of our city friends yearly drink in delicious, untainted pleasure. For they leave the scenes of their business and of profit behind, to ramble where the breezes blow, amid the bracing air of our mountains, lakes, forests and sea coasts where many an invalid has been restored to health, and taken a new lease of life. But they who do not engage in the occupations of country life, cannot enjoy all its pleasures.

There is a real pleasure in rural occupations and pursuits, which city life, with all its competitions, anxieties and continual excitements cannot give. There is a satisfaction in beholding the fruits and productions of one's own industry and labor, and in witnessing the blessings and bounties of divine Providence. The scenes, occupations and pleasures of rural life are all alike healthful to the mind and invigorating to the body, and conducive to human happiness.

The country may be called a great book, which is open to the eye of every one who can read and understand it. It has a language peculiar to itself. There are passages in it of great beauty and unparalleled grandeur. We may read its beautiful passages when we gaze upon the fair landscape of a summer's day, when we listen to the sighing breeze among the forest leaves, when we hear the warbling of the songsters of the grove making the air vocal with their songs, when we listen to the murmurings of the running stream, as its limpid waves ripple over their pebbled bed, the sweetest of all nature's music, the seanning of which imparts pleasure to every thoughtful mind. And yet many, aye, very many, in their hot haste to become rich, and anxious to cut a figure in the world, are willing to relinquish all these pleasures of quiet, healthful scenes and employment, for the busy mart of trade and traffic to be covered over with the dust, and to be surrounded by the bobbub, the perplexities and temptations of city life. And all this for the sake of acquiring riches and honor in the world, which the majority fail to obtain.

THE OLD MEETIN HOUSE.

HOW THE NEW ENGLANDERS OF SIXTY YEARS AGO ATTENDED CHURCH.

[The New Englander.]

The meeting-house was never lighted, except by the sun, until singing-schools made it necessary to introduce candles and rude chandeliers. Night meetings in the meeting-house were considered highly indecorous and questionable even by the most zealous. No firing was provided for. Stoves were utterly unknown and Fireplaces were not to be thought of. Even the rude and dangerous devices, which afterward were matured into the most uncomfortable foot-stoves, were at first unknown. The New England meeting-house was never warmed by artificial heat from 1810 to 1820.

Of a cold winter morning the breath of the worshipers not unfrequently would seem like smoke from a hundred furnaces as it came in contact with the frosty atmosphere. The walls which had almost been congealed into ice by the fierce northwesters of the preceding week, would strike the chill of death into the frame of many of the congregation. That they should come to such a place as this, on a snowy morning, plowing through unswept walks, and plunging through fearful drifts—man, woman and child—and sit with half frozen feet under long discourses on knotty doctrines, makes us shiver as we think of it and say from the heart, "herein is the patience of the saints." And yet the writer's memory can distinctly recall the observation and experience of scenes like these. The experience was not so cruel as it might seem. Manifold devices against the cold were provided. Some that are now deemed indispensable were not needed. The free handed and open-hearted hospitality of the houses near the meeting-house was freely proffered and as readily accepted.

Enormous kitchen fires were expressly replenished for Sunday uses, before which scores of worshippers from a distance warmed their persons and ate their luncheons, and at which they replenish their foot stoves. The merchant, the innkeeper, the squire, the doctor, the retired money-lender, the wealthy widow or Lady Bountiful who lived near the meeting-house, all esteemed it their duty and their pleasure to manifest this reasonable hospitality. Slight and natural as it was, it helped to bind and hold together the little community by the ties of common sympathy. To provide against all contingencies, adjoining neighbors from a distance would sometimes erect a plain structure upon the meetinghouse green—a Sabbath dry house, so-called—of one or two apartments, with ample fire-places, which relieved somewhat the draft upon the overburdened hospitality of those who dwelt under the droppings of the sanctuary. These structures have nearly all disappeared with the occasion which brought them into being. Now and then the remains of one are identified by some village antiquary, as applied to some baser use—of stable or granary.

RUBBER

Important to all who use Belting.

We have just patented a new article in Rubber Belting which is sold under the name of

GIANT BELTING.

This Belting is put up with the usual plies of Duck and Rubber, and, before putting on the outside cover, it is stitched in seams one inch apart, with cotton cord, which has a pulling strength of fifty pounds. It is then stretched in its plastic state, drawing the plies so close together that with the strong cord with which it is stitched, material strength is added to the joint, and the stitches are so drawn into the plies of rubber, that they cannot wear off on the outside. The cover is then put on under pressure, so that it cannot open, as in the case of Rubber Belting made in the ordinary way, and the plies being so firmly stitched as well as frictioned together, that the belt cannot separate, as many belts made in the ordinary way will, after being used for a time, especially when run at great speed or in damp places.

We particularly call the attention of all mill owners to this belt as being in the end the cheapest belt they can buy, while the first cost is only about ten per cent. more than belting made in the ordinary way. We believe it will wear more than double the length of time. For heavy main belts you will find it superior to anything made. It is also superior for Rubber Belts, as we stitch the splice in such a way that it cannot separate.

Try our Giant Belts. We will warrant satisfaction.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Carriers make two deliveries daily, the last trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning noon and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 9 to 9½ A M, and from 7 to 7½ P M.

Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes the cause of incipient disease, and prevents, by its tonic effect, the attack of scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Nearly every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken a few bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and I am in general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me." Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN.
148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

☞ All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. F. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the truth and efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882: "Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla
